SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. I.

Prudential Committee, John R. Russell.

Summer Term, taught by Nellie M. Emerson.

Miss Emerson gave good satisfaction. She entered upon her work with a natural fitness and with much earnestness, and a good work was done in this school.

Winter Term, taught by C. F. Davis.

This teacher has a very easy and pleasant way in the school room. The order and improvement of the school we think very good.

DISTRICT NO. II.

Prudential Committee, Milton Duncklee.

Summer and Winter Terms, taught by Abbie N. Partridge.

The terms were short, but we think the improvement good.

DISTRICT NO. III.

Prudential Committee, Frank Brooks.

Summer and Fall Terms, taught by Ida L. Patch.

Your committee was not in at the close of either term. On account of sickness the summer term closed one week sooner than it would otherwise have done. When the fall term closed your committee was not in town. At the commencement of both terms the school appeared well.

Winter Term, taught by D. A. Stiles.

The examination was very good, and did credit both to pupils and teacher. Such a school as this needs an experienced teacher, and we think the district very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Stiles.

DISTRICT NO. IV.

Union District—Bennington and Greenfield.

Teacher, Miss Mary E. Robertson.

This district had only one term. The recitations showed that the time had been well spent.

DISTRICTS NOS. V. AND VIII.

Prudential Committee, James T. Robertson.

Summer Term, taught by Mary E. Robertson.

We think Miss Robertson gave good satisfaction.

Winter Term, taught by John T. Robertson.

Your committee was well pleased with this school. Mr. Robertson retained his former reputation.

No. 6-no school.

DISTRICT NO. VII.

Prudential Committee, Willis D. Hardy.

Summer Term, taught by Lizzie M. Partridge.

This school appeared well, and good improvement was made.

Winter Term, taught by Mrs. Willis D. Hardy.

She is one that sees the work to be done, and knows how to do it. A very good school.

DISTRICT NO. X.

Prudential Committee, John Fletcher.

Summer Term, teacher, Vila A. Fletcher.

This school was short, but we could see progress had been made. A number in this school went through the term without whispering.

Winter Term, teacher, Miss Sarah E. McLane.

Some of the large boys were not in at the examination. Those who were in did well.

THE HIGH SCHOOL,

taught by J. B. Twiss, was not in every respect all we could wish; but very good improvement was made in some branches, particularly in reading and spelling. Much knowledge is gained by experience. We think with more experience, Mr. Twiss may make a very successful teacher. We are sorry that all of our scholars who are old enough and qualified to attend this school, do not avail themselves of this privilege. We hope if money is raised for another term at our next town meeting, three men will be then chosen to hire a teacher and look after the interest of the school. As citizens, if we feel an interest in this school, I think we fail to show it. Fellow-citizens, let us try to raise the standard of education in our town.

ROLL OF HONOR.

SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Summer Term, 8 weeks. Taught by Miss Abbie N. Partridge. of Greenfield. This school appeared very well at the commencement and at the close, with the exception of a few boys. Improvement was made. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading 17, Spelling 17, Penmanship 12, Arithmetic 12, Geography, 6, Grammar 2.

Winter Term, 11 weeks.

Taught by Sara A. Keyes. Your committee was not able to be in at the examination, therefore cannot report in regard to the improvement of the school. From what we have heard, we think improvement was made and the school a success. Branches taught; Reading, 22, Spelling, 22, Arithmetic, 19, Geography, 8, Grammar, 4.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Summer Term, 6 weeks. Taught by M. Jennie Wood, of Green-For the first time, Miss Wood enters the schoolroom as She carried much enthusiasm into her work, and we think was quite successful in awakening an interest in the school. The examination was such as to be of credit to scholars and tea-All the scholars are reported as going through the term without whispering. An honor to any school. Branches taught, and the number attending to each: Reading 9, Spelling 9, Penmanship 6, Arithmetic 7, Geography 4, Vocal music 9.

Winter Term, 7 weeks. Taught by Etta M. Young of Tem-A teacher well qualified to instruct and guide youthful ple. minds. We were highly pleased with the appearance of the school at the commencement and learn that Miss Young gave good satisfaction. The notice sent of the examination failed to reach us, and consequently we did not visit this school at its close. Branches taught and the number attending to each:-Reading, 15; Spelling, 15; Arithmetic, 14; Penmanship, 6; Geography, 13; Grammar, 2; Composition, 1.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Summer Term, 10 weeks. Taught by Lizzie M. Partridge, of Greenfield.

This is a difficult school to keep. Miss Partridge, we think, did her best to make this school a success. At the commencement the school was very quiet and orderly. Your committee never saw it more so. During the short time your committee was in at the examination, we found but little with which to find fault. Some of the small boys were a little noisy with their lips. All things considered, we think Miss Partridge did well. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 35; Spelling, 35; Penmanship, 1; Arithmetic, 30; Geography, 8; Grammar, 4; History, 1; Book Keeping, 4.

Fall Term, 8 weeks. Taught by the same teacher.

Through some misunderstanding your committee was not in at the examination. Some of the parents say their children never learned better. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 19; Spelling, 19; Penmanship, 11; Arithmetic, 15; Geography, 3.

Winter Term, 10 weeks. Taught by A. A. Robertson, Halifax, N. S.

A young man of good ability; pleasant and agreeable in his ways. He commenced his work with a desire to make the school pleasant and profitable to his pupils, and did his part well. We are sorry to say that some of the scholars did not appreciate his labors and failed to treat their teacher with due respect. The exercises at the examination did credit to pupils and teacher.— Improvement was made, but not so great as might have been made if the scholars had put forth more effort. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 38; Spelling, 36; Penmanship, 25; Arithmetic, 26; Geography, 17; Grammar, 19; Composition, 18; History, 3; Book-Keeping, 5.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Union district with Bennington. Prudential Committee in Bennington. We received no notice as to the commencement or close of the school.

DISTRICT NOS. 5 & 8.

Summer Term, 6 weeks. Taught by Maria A. Dodge, of Bennington. This district was very fortunate in the selection of teachers for summer and winter. Miss Dodge accomplished as much in six weeks as many teachers would in twelve. She possesses those requisite qualities which render her highly useful in the school-room. With more experience we think she will take a high rank among our teachers. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 22; Spelling, 22; Penmanship, 11; Arithmetic, 12; Geography, 9; Grammar, 2.

Winter Term, 9 weeks. Taught by Nellie A. Hadley, of Hancock. A faithful teacher. Ready and easy to communicate her ideas, and willing to assist her pupils in the studies they were pursuing. We can recommend her as a good teacher. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 24; Spelling, 24; Penmanship, 15; Arithmetic, 13; Geography, 12; Grammar, 3; Map Drawing, 1; Philosophy, 1; Algebra, 1.

DISTRICT NO. 6.—NO SCHOOL.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Fall Term, 6 weeks. Taught by Miss J. C. Savage.

Your committee was well pleased with this school. It made very good improvement. With more scholars a teacher could get up a greater interest, but considering the length of school and the number of scholars, we think the interest and improvement good. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 8; Spelling, 8; Penmanship, 7; Arithmetic, 7; Geography, 4; Grammar, 4.

Winter Term, taught by Newell J. Sawyer, of Greenfield.

Mr. Sawyer commenced his work as a teacher in his own district, and with good success. The school was quiet and orderly, and everything showed that the pupils respected their teacher.—We think the term must have been a pleasant one to teacher and scholars, and will long be remembered by them ail. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 11; Spelling, 11; Penmanship, 11; Arithmetic, 11; Geography, 5; Grammar, 5; Vocal music, 4.

DISTRICT NO. 9.—NO SCHOOL.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Summer Term, *8 weeks. Taught by Ella C. Ware, of Hancock. This is the second time Miss Ware has taught this school. She has a great desire to see her scholars moving on in the pursuit of knowledge. Knowing its value, she makes every effort to help her pupils to obtain an education so desirable in discharging the various duties of life. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 18; Spelling, 18; Penmanship, 8; Arithmetic, 14; Geography, 2; Composition, 1; Philosophy, 2; Algebra, 1.

Winter Term, 10 weeks. Taught by your committee, A. N. Hardy. We will leave this school for others to report. Branches taught and the number attending to each: Reading, 20; Spelling, 20; Penmanship, 8; Arithmetic, 18; Geography, 3;

Grammar, 6; Algebra, 2.

<sup>*2</sup> weeks by subscription.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING

MARCH 1, 1877.

PETERBORO':
PRINTED AT THE "TRANSCRIPT" PRINTING ESTABLISHMENT.
1877.

SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee, E. J. Downing.

Summer Term, taught by Miss M. Jennie Woods. This is a wide awake school, and appeared very well at commencement and close. The house was tastefully trimmed. We think it a pleasant term to the teacher, and profitable to the pupils.

Winter Term, taught by Mr. David A. Stiles, of Francestown. This district was fortunate in securing the services of so competent a teacher. The improvement in reading and thorough drill in arithmetic were quite noticeable, and the school accomplished as much in five weeks as some others did in a much longer term.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee, Joseph Blanchard.

Summer Term, taught by M. Jennie Wood. Miss Wood having taught this school to the general satisfaction of the district, her services were secured a second time, though with not as good results as in the previous term; but the improvement of those who continued till the end was very good.

Winter term, taught by Mr. Wm. N. Cragin, of Peterboro'. This was Mr. Cragin's first experience as a teacher. He commenced his work with the ardor of youth and a determination to do his whole duty; and the school, though backward, made commendable improvement under his care. With more experience we think he will take a high rank among our teachers.

Branches taught: Reading, 15; Spelling, 15; Penmanship, 15; Arithmetic, 14; Geography, 7; Book-keeping, 1.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee, D. W. Burnham.

Summer term, taught by Miss Jennie G. Stebbins, of Manchester, and a graduate of the Manchester training school. The advantages Miss Stebbins had enjoyed were apparent to all who visited her school. A good disciplinarian, firm yet mild in her government, the pupils were deeply interested and made rapid improvement.

Fall term taught by the same teacher. The teacher and pupils fully sustained the good reputation they had acquired the previous term.

Branches taught first term, and the number attending to each: Reading, 43; Spelling, 43; Penmanship, 23; Arithmetic, 35; Geography, 15; Grammar, 16; Composition, 16.

Second term: Reading, 31; Spelling, 31; Penmanship, 20; Arithmetic, 20; Geography, 8; Grammar, 8; Drawing, 31; Vocal Music, 31.

Winter term taught by Mr. E. K. Morrison, of South Acworth. The school, in the judgment of your committee, was not a great success. The discipline was lax, and wanted that sharpness of character which pronounces the teacher master of the situation. A comfortable degree of order is not a satisfactory condition of a school in these days of progress. No teacher need hope for any great degree of success unless he has power to control the order of the school room. In order to have satisfactory results, scholars must have thorough drill, which will touch their knowledge. Help by the teacher begets indolent habits and makes dependent scholars. This propping up serves to encourage weakness, and should always be avoided.

Branches taught: Reading, 33; Spelling, 33; Penmanship, 12; Arithmetic, 33; Geography, 9; Grammar, 10; Book-keeping, 10; History, 7; Algebra, 1.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Prudential Committee, N. Russell.

No Summer school. Winter term taught by James S. Rogers. This school is of pupils mostly from this town, there being but one or two from Bennington. The school was twice visited by your committee, who found it quiet and studious, and we think the school was doing as well as could be expected with its surroundings. The school house, having more than fulfilled its mission, has been abandoned, and the room now occupied is small, and benches inconvenient, making it unpleasant for teacher and pupils. This school is now in session, and I cannot make a full report for the want of the register.

DISTRICTS NOS. 5. & 8.

Prudential Committee, J. T. Robertson.

Summer term taught by Miss Bell K. Robertson.

This district furnishes its own teachers, and thus keep the money in the district and town. Few districts do as well as this in keeping up their interest and numbers. The teacher had the interest of the school at heart, and gained the affections of her pupils, and interested them in their studies. Branches taught: Reading, 20; Spelling, 20; Arithmetic, 11; Geography, 11; Grammar, 7.

Winter term taught by Miss Mary E. Robertson, a teacher of about one year's experience. In a quiet way she secures good order, the respect of her pupils, and does not fail to interest and improve them. I consider this an interesting field of labor for a teacher who is willing to work. Parents and pupils are willing to work for what they have, and want what they work for, and we wish them success.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee, J. Sawyer.

Summer term taught by Miss Julia A. Manning, a a teacher who had a mind to work, but who "could not make brick without straw." There being but three or four pupils most of the time, and those from one family, the school was placed to disadvantage, for the want of emulation. The progress was as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

Branches taught: Reading, 4; Spelling, 4; Penmanship, 4; Arithmetic, 4; Geography. 2; Grammar, 1; Composition, 1; History, 1.

Winter term taught by Newel J. Sawyer. Mr. Sawyer appeared to have the confidence and good will of the pupils, which he turned to good account. The closing examination gave proof of decided progress.

Branches taught: Reading, 14; Spelling, 14; Penmanship, 8; Arithmetic, 13; Geography, 3; Grammar, 6.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, S. G. Hartshorn.

Summer term taught by Miss Emma G. Smith, of Peterboro', an experienced teacher, whose mild and firm discipline won the respect of all. Few teachers take pains to find work, and interest their pupils as Miss Smith does. No duty was left undone through weariness or haste. Believing in the efficacy of work, she did not leave the results to chance. Whatever was right, and for the good of the school, she caused to be done. The result was a good school.

Branches taught: Reading, 20; Spelling, 20; Penmanship, 11; Arithmetic, 15; Geography, 6; Grammar, 5; Composition, 3; Drawing, 1.

Winter term, taught by Miss E. Loena Fairbanks, of Peterboro'. This was a No. 1 school, under the care of a No. 1 teacher. The order of the school was good, and the deportment of the scholars commendable, indicating proper respect for the teacher, and correct ideas of the relation which should exist between teacher and pupils. The school was a success.

Branches taught: Reading, 14; Spelling, 14; Arithmetic, 12; Penmanship, 6; Geography, 2;

Grammar, 6; History, 2.

Fall term of High School, (so called). This was more properly a Town School, giving to all the districts in town the privilege of attending, the money being raised and appropriated by the town. This school commenced well under the care of E. K. Morrison, of South Acworth, a graduate of Bridgewater Academy. A teacher like some of our former ones, well qualified in mind and heart to benefit his pupils. His kind and suasive manner soon won the confidence of his pupils, and we had much reason to hope for a successful term. We think the term not a failure, and are happy to say that the pupils from other districts, who had availed themselves of this school, appeared much better than those of the same age who had failed to do so.

Branches taught: Reading, 36; Spelling, 36; Arithmetic, 36; Geography, 6; Grammar, 20; Algebra, 2; History, 5; Book-keeping, 11.

One word to the parents of this district. It is generally thought by the "out districts," that those in the centre have too much money without a special appropriation, but in my opinion this is not the trouble, though you have about one-half of all the money used in town for school purposes. Bennington village has more than twice your amount, and has none too much. It is but little use to cram a dyspeptic stomach with savory meats. Unless there is a want, there is no need of a supply. Now, parents, until you create in the minds of your children a healthy desire for better culture, I think the town will be slow to make appropriations to sustain a High School. But could you and your children appreciate its advantages, it would be money well spent.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN FLETCHER, S. S. Committee.

SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Charles S. Lowe, Prudential Committee.

Summer term, Nettie M. Giddings, teacher. Miss Giddings understood the duties of a good teacher, coming from a town where schools are considered an important factor in the elevation of its citizens. And she labors in a quiet way to make the school what it should be,—and with some degree of success. And some classes recited quite well at the examination.

Winter term, Emma A. Rowell, teacher. A teacher well qualified, yet wanting in some of the inherent qualities of an earnest, successful teacher. The pupils needed to feel the bit and curb of a sharper discipline to accomplish the best results.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Charles Blanchard, Prudential Committee.

This school was under the care of Miss Evie C. Blanchard of Francestown, both summer and winter terms. There was considerable improvement the first term, especially in reading, which Miss B. is well qualified to teach.

The condition of the school at the close of the last term was not satisfactory to your committee. The school was restless and noisy; some of the recitations were very good, but generally lacked in thoroughness. From the register we copy,—"Think if the parents visited the school more often during the term, they might be better satisfied."

DISTRICT NO. 3.

D. R. Gould, Prudential Committee

Summer term, teacher, Abbie Robbe of Peterborough. In this district the number of scholars is amply sufficient to afford room for emulation and mutual excitement. The scholars, in consequence of their living in the most active and busy part of the town, exhibit a good deal of natural vivacity. This renders discipline more necessary, and at the same time all the more difficult, but renders rapid progress under good discipline and teaching all the more certain Miss R. met the exigencies of her position remarkably well.

Fall term. Your committee failed to be present at the examination of Miss Robbe's second term; but Mr. Fitch was present and gave me his approbation of the school and of Miss R.'s method of instruction, which is an honor to any teacher.

Winter term was under the care of John T. Robertson. A teacher of some experience, but for some cause failed to secure the good will of some of the large boys, who did not seem to treat the teacher and his advice with that deference and respect which is due from the pupil to the instructor; and, after laboring with the school for about eight weeks, saw fit to retire from the school.

This school is now in session under the care of David A. Stiles, a teacher of much experience, and his success is too well known to need any comment from your committee.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

We visited this school at its commencement; found it under the care of Mr. Morris Chany of Bennington; the school was doing quite well. At the close we were prevented from being present, on account of the severest snow storm of the season. From inquiring of those interested, we learned that Mr. C. gave good satisfaction; and we wish him success in a calling for which we think him well adapted.

DISTRICTS NOS. 5 & 8.

Prudential Committee, George French.

Emma J. Nahor, Peterboro', teacher. We were happy to find in this district an old-fashioned school, in repect to numbers. There were 32 scholars, with a good average of nearly 30, necessitating the labor of putting in additional desks, which were well filled with active and earnest pupils. We were also pleased to notice a commendable ambition on the part of the teacher to labor earnestly for the mental improvement of her pupils. The closing examination evinced to the patrons of this school that time and labor had not been spent for naught.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee, James E. Stearns.

Teacher, Hattie L. Pettengill of Peterboro'. This school was under the care of Miss Pettengill, both summer and winter terms. A teacher of good scholarship; the school was quiet and orderly when visited by your committee, and exhibited a commendable degree of improvement. If there was a fault in this school, it was a want of energy and spirit found in larger schools, averaging less than four in summer and eight in winter.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, B. W. Hardy.

Teacher, Miss Ella C. Ware of Hancock. Miss Ware has many excellent qualifications for a successful teacher. Not the least among these is an ambition to succeed, working with an enthusiasm which inspires its counterpart in the scholars. How can her pupils be sleepy, listless and inactive, when they see the teacher striving so hard for their improvement. Such a live condition of a school is favorable for work and progress, and classes will show it. I think I may truthfully say this was the best school in town. These remarks may apply to both summer and winter schools, they both being under the care of Miss Ware.

REMARKS.

It is not easy for your committee to understand the reason why so many parents of this town have become apparently indifferent to the interest of our common schools, when no other interest, save religion, is of equal importance. It is with no ordinary solicitude that we should ask, whether we are deriving all the advantages from our schools that we ought. is generally admitted that the future course of the rising generation is shaped and moulded by its insti-If the mind is not rightly started in its course of discipline and improvement, it is never properly directed and grows up in ignorance, never apt to be a burden than a blessing to society. We should act upon this great truth, that the boys of to-day will be the men of to-morrow. One word about corporal punishment in our schools. I never have intimated to any of the teachers but what it was sometimes necessary to resort to this if other measures failed, being of the opinion that the moral taught by the old fable of the rude boy in the apple tree was a good one, and the end justified the means used. And the question is worthy of consideration, are we raising better men and women under our present lax method of discipline, than were raised under the more austere method of our fathers.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN FLETCHER, S. S. Com.

SCHOOL REPORT.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee—WILLIAM F. RUSSELL.

SUMMER TERM. Taught by Miss Lizzie F. Cummings. This school has often been called "hard to manage," but this term, under the direction of Miss Cummings, we find the discipline was strict, and the instruction rendered thorough and practical; an interest was awakened in the minds of the pupils, and at the closing examination the school exhibited decided improvement.

Winter Term. Taught by the same teacher, whose untiring efforts to bring this school up to a higher standard than heretofore, proved successful. She maintained her authority, but it required the exercise of constant vigilance. The classes in reading and spelling made fine improvement. Many useful general exercises were introduced by this teacher during both terms. We commend Miss Cummings to prudential committees. "The board was given by the district."

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee—Frank W. Blanchard.

Summer Term. Taught by Miss Abbie M. Shattuck. This was Miss Shattuck's first term of school. The method of instruction adopted, as far as was observed by the Committee, was satisfactory, and the progress of the scholars pretty good. At the close, most of the classes were prompt in their recitations, and to all appearance general harmony had prevailed throughout the term.

Winter Term. The services of Miss Shattuck were again secured, but at the expiration of four weeks, illness compelled her to abandon the school. She was succeeded by Miss Ella L. Woodward, a second inexperienced teacher, who taught the remainder of the term. The examination at the close exhibited some improvement. The declamations and recitations were of an entertaining character, but it could not be called a MODEL SCHOOL, as whispering was carried on with impunity.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee—John M. Day.

Summer Term. Taught by Miss Lucy F. Morse. With a large number of eager and perceptive minds in this school it requires a rare combination of talents in a teacher. From the disinterestedness of the older portion of the school, your Committee was led to believe that this teacher was only moderately qualified. The exercises at the examination were so conducted that it was difficult to determine whether any progress was made or not. Think, however, that the smaller classes advanced in reading. The exercises of a general nature at the examination were pleasing to the many visitors present. Abbie M. Day, Arthur Savage and Eddie Hopkins, are reported as being present every half day of the term, without being tardy also. The average deportment of the school is excellent.

Fall Term. Taught by Miss Abbie Allen. Miss Allen is a teacher of the finest qualifications, possessing an intellect well fortified with acumen. She is able to lead the more advanced pupils up the rugged hill of science; and yet, willing to adapt herself to the tyros in learning. The instruction imparted by this teacher was thorough, systematic and practical, leaving an impress upon the mind not easily to be effaced. She could GOVERN and TEACH the same day without any apparent effort. A large number of visitors attended the examination, which was well worth an admittance fee.

Winter Term. Taught by Mr. David A. Stiles. Mr. Stiles entered upon the discharge of his duties as teacher with his accustomed earnestness, and secured in a high degree the confidence and kind regard of his pupils. While all the classes at the close of the term appeared well, the higher classes in Arithmetic performed some very difficult and complicated examples upon the black board in a very neat and accurate manner. This school gave a further exhibition of their attainments in the town hall, some of the pupils appearing as actors upon the stage for the first time. The articulation and pronunciation of each one was not only distinct and accurate, but expressive. The varied and entertaining exercises were listened to by a large and appreciative audience.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Combined with Bennington and under the direction of Bennington Committee. Responding to a call from the teacher, Miss Fannie Lakin, to furnish a few books, we did so, some of them gratuitously.

DISTRICTS NOS. 5 AND 8.

Prudential Committee—Daniel Flynn.

WINTER TERM. Taught by John T. Robertson. Mr. Robertson is well qualified for his work, and evidently engaged in it with a sincere desire to benefit his pupils. They, too, were disposed to make the best use of their advantages. Fair progress was made in all the branches pursued, and in reading the improvement was so great as to merit particular notice and commendation.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee—George W. Wood.

Summer Term. Taught by Miss Susie A. Wood. This teacher entered upon her duties, in many respects, with the dignity of an experienced teacher. The pupils under her instruction were well taught. They manifested an interest in their studies and made fine progress. Miss Wood was well qualified to teach this school, and could as easily have taught five as two, that might and ought to have enjoyed the rights and privileges of their own district.

WINTER TERM. Taught by Newell J. Sawyer. We visited this school near the commencement of the term. The scholars were well classed, and good order was established. We were again permitted to visit it at the close, and noticed that good improvement had been made in the several branches pursued. It is an honor to Mr. Sawyer to be able to enlighten the minds in the path of science in his own district.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee—John Cain.

Summer Term. Taught by Miss Ella J. Bragg. We retain a very pleasant impression of this school during our first visit. It was characterized by neatness and order. The teacher was energetic and efficient, and a successful term was predicted. At the close our expectations were fully realized. The older pupils were prompt in their recitations, particularly in Arithmetic. The school room was fragrant with the odor of choice flowers, plucked from Dea. A. N. Hardy's flower garden, which lent enchantment to the scene.

WINTER TERM. Taught by Miss E. Loena Fairbanks. Miss Fairbanks passed a creditable examination, and has had much experience in teaching. She labored faithfully and patiently, securing the respect and good will of her pupils. Although there were not as severe tests applied at the examination as in some schools, still, comparatively good improvement was made by most of the classes.

In presenting the report of the schools for the past year, we are happy in being able to state that a new impulse has been given them by the introduction of new books. As a change in text books was very much needed in all the schools, the following have been adopted, partly in exchange for old ones of a corresponding grade: Guyot's Geographies have been taken in exchange for Harper's School and Introductory. Arithmetic getting somewhat antiquated, Greenleaf's Mathematical Series were recommended, and four districts have already adopted them. In place of Hillard's Readers, the Franklin Series were substituted. These books were not introduced hastily; not before obtaining from their publishers a sample copy of each, and giving them a careful examination, also comparing them with similar ones, of which we had copies. feel an inward assurance that we have made choice of the latest and most highly approved. These books have been furnished at publishers' prices, amounting to sixty-five dollars ($65.00); deducting therefrom eleven dollars ($11.00), the sum paid for old books of a corresponding grade, leaves a balance of fifty-four dollars ($54.00) expended in the several districts for new books.

We congratulate District No. 1 on having such a neat and tasteful structure. With an expenditure of $44.00 during the past year it has been painted outside and inside. We commend their example in regard to neatness and cleanliness of their school house, to District No. 3.

Through the efforts of Mr. D. A. Stiles, spelling has received unusual attention in the Centre District, during the Winter Term. Evening spelling schools were revived, and attended by citizens as well as pupils from other districts.

We do not overstate the truth when we say that during the past year the schools have been a decided success.

Before closing, I would say that my relation to the schools has been to me every way pleasant. The pupils have been polite and respectful, regarding our advice for their welfare and improvement, for which I shall ever cherish a high regard for their future advancement and prosperity.

Respectfully submitted,
